Period for Reply

A SHORTENED STATUTORY PERIOD FOR REPLY IS SET TO EXPIRE 3 MONTH(S) FROM THE MAILING DATE OF THIS COMMUNICATION.

- Extensions of time may be available under the provisions of 37 CFR 1.136(a). In no event, however, may a reply be timely filed after SIX (6) MONTHS from the mailing date of this communication.
- If the period for reply specified above is less than thirty (30) days, a reply within the statutory minimum of thirty (30) days will be considered timely.
- If NO period for reply is specified above, the maximum statutory period will apply and will expire SIX (6) MONTHS from the mailing date of this communication.
- Failure to reply within the set or extended period for reply will, by statute, cause the application to become ABANDONED (35 U.S.C. § 133). Any reply received by the Office later than three months after the mailing date of this communication, even if timely filed, may reduce any earned patent term adjustment. See 37 CFR 1.704(b).

DETAILED ACTION

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

1. The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

2. Claims 15 and 16 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by Stockel.

For this action, please refer to the marked up copy of Figure I of Stockel disclosed herein. Stockel shows a receptacle for a nozzle of a coupling device, the receptacle including a valve body including an internal valve 20, and a collar radially outwardly disposed from the valve body and defining therewith an annular cavity to receive a collar of the nozzle; the collar of the receptacle including a series of bearings 30 spaced along an interior surface of the collar which can be received in helical channels of the nozzle to secure the nozzle to the receptacle when the receptacle is rotated in one direction with respect to the nozzle. The bearings 30 secures the nozzle to the receptacle by preventing the receptacle from moving axially away from the nozzle coupling device because the bearings are locked onto the drive shaft 20 when the receptacle is rotated with respect to the nozzle in assembling the device.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

3. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

Art Unit: 3752

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

4. Claim 17 is rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Stockel in view of Hoffmeister.

Hoffmeister states that the practice of removing bearings from a component is well known in order to clean and lubricate the bearings. It would have been obvious to one having ordinary skill in the art at the time the invention was made to have modified the device of Stockel by providing the ability to removably attach the bearings from the receptacle collar in order to clean and lubricate the bearings through the prior knowledge of Hoffmeister.

Allowable Subject Matter

5. Claims 1-14 are allowed.
6. Any inquiry concerning this communication or earlier communications from the examiner should be directed to Davis D. Hwu whose telephone number is 571-272-4904. The examiner can normally be reached on 8:00-4:30.

If attempts to reach the examiner by telephone are unsuccessful, the examiner's supervisor, Dave Scherbel can be reached on 571-272-4919. The fax phone number for the organization where this application or proceeding is assigned is 703-872-9306.
